

ABSTRACT

In a radio front-end circuit having at least two amplifier-mixer cascades, the amplifiers are switched on or off via the mixers. By switching between the amplifier-mixer cascades, the power consumption is lowered.